There is some complaint that the water closets in the Patent Office building are now all reserved for the use of employes, and that visitors to the buildings (and there are a great number of them) are thus debarred their use.

THE D. C. HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY met at Ger-THE D. C. HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY met at German hall last evening—Mr. Saul presiding, with Mr. W. Gillingham secretary. There was a large attendance of members and spectators. Col. Amos Webster, B. Robinson, A. S. Taylor, Chalkley Gillingham, F. A. Whelan, Mrs. Mary A. Johnson, Theo. Sheckells, Mary J. Allen, and Mrs. Jas. Edmunds were elected members. Mr. J. T. C. Clark, from the executive committee. reported that they would recommend that their exhibition be held during the third week in September, so as not to interfere with the Baltimore exhibition, which takes place during the fourth week of that month. The constitution was amended to read that the annual meeting shall take place on the fourth Wednesday in January of each year instead of on the first January of each year instead of on the first Monday of February of each year. The election of officers followed, and Mr. John Saul was elected president; T. W. Fowler, Chalkley Gll-lingham and Z. M. King vice presidents; D. S. Curtis corresponding secretary; Washington Gillingham recording secretary; and J. T.C. Clark treasurer; M. East, David I. Saunders, Simeon Swindells, C. Gillingham read a resolution adopted by the Fruit Grower's Association looking to a union of Fruit Grower's Association looking to a union of the two societies. Mr. Fowler moved that this society decline the proposition to appoint a committee on the subject; adopted. Mr. J. T. C. Clark read an interesting essay on "The Harmony of the Vegetable Kingdom and the Analogy of Plants with Animals." The paper was discussed by Col. D. S. Curtis, C. Gillingham and T. W. Fowler, and a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Clark. Mr. Clark, speaking of the remarkable weather we are having, said that yesterday, in his greenhouse, there was a temperature of 59 degrees without fire. Mr. Saul said we had had, and were still having a most unusual season—a cold September had been followed by a hot and wet October. Frost following, much damage was done, especially to cherry trees and celery plants. If this weather continues much longer and frost comes, the fruit cherry trees and celery plants. If this weather continues much longer and frost comes, the fruit crop is gone; but it all depends on what weather is coming. The fruit trees have not budded yet, for vegetation needs repose just as well as animals. Mr. Gillingham referred to some peculiarities of the weather. He noticed that in a clear, calm night the frost settles in the valleys, and that often it is o degrees colder on the banks of a stream than it is on the hills near by. Flowers were exhibited as follows: be the banks of a stream than it is on the fills hear by. Flowers were exhibited as follows:—

SHEA SENTENCED .- Yesterday, in the Criminal Court, John Shea, recently convicted of resisting Officer Dunnington, appeared, and Mr. Cahill withdrew the motion for a new trial. Judge Cartter said he was satisfied that the resistance grew out of drunken madness, and wished to know if the court exercised leniency whether or not Shea would control his appetite. Mr. Shea promised to do so. The court said that he inended to put him upon his manhood and see if it would not be productive of good results. He could send him to the penitentiary or jail for two years, but would do neither. The law allowed the imposition of a fine of $500, but he would not be that severe. He should make him pay a fine of $300 and the costs of the suit. Mr. Shea thanked the court for the leniency shown and retired from the chamber. and retired from the chamber.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Duty of Good Citizens.

Editor Star:—Is it not time that the conservative and thoughtful citizens of Washington should take some steps to counteract the mis-chievous and dangerous purposes of the mal-contents, who are agitating the subject of re-storing suffrage in this District? Whilst we have too much confidence in the wisdom and common humanity of Congress to apprehend that they will impose such a curse upon the citi-zens of Washington again, we are not willing that the common sense, sound judgment and dethat the common sense, sound judgment and de-cency of our respectable citizens should be outraged and misrepresented by a few political fossils, male and female fanatics, communists, and a pestiferous individual who rails against taxes, because it is the only debt that he can be made to pay. Would it not be well to take some steps in the direction of crushing out this effort to revive such an intolerable nulsance and heavy expense? and heavy expense? CITIZEN.

Washeurne's Candidacy.—Ex-Minister Elihu B. Washburne arrived in town yesterday and occupied rooms at the Albemarie Hotel, although his name does not appear on the register. His brother, C. C. Washburn (to whose name there is no final "e" and who is the ex-Governor of Wisconsin), arrived at about the same time and went to the Fifth avenue. Mr. E. B. Washburne was called upon by a reporter. E. B. Washburne was called upon by a reporter shortly after his arrival and requested to give a statement of his views touching the ex-President's candidacy for a third term as well President's candidacy for a third term as well as of his own candidacy for the governorship of Illinois. Mr. Washburne was disinclined to talk politics, but he has said that if the republicans will nominate him to be governor of Illinois he will accept, and it is known that he has written to a friend that under no circumstances will he be a candidate for the Presidency. His brother, C. O. Washburn, said he would not speak for his brother, but he knew him to be a warm supporter of the ex-President, "as I am, too," he added.—V. Y. Herald, to-day.

THE AGONIZING DEATH OF A WOMAN FROM HYDROPHOBIA.—Mrs. Mary R. Lindermier died from hydrophobia in Philadelphia last Tuesday She carried on a saloon at 614 North Fourth she carried on a saloon at 614 North Fourth street. She was a healthy, robust woman of 47. She had a fondness for dogs. Six or eight weeks ago a strange cur snapped at and bit her slightly on the finger. Last week (Tuesday) she complained weariness and of a sharp pain in her arm. The next day she feit no ill effects, but on Tuesday the pain returned. By Saturday she developed alarming symptoms and showed a great dread of water. Three or four more physicians were summoned and they prescribed the South American Indian war-arrow poison, woorara. Camphor and opiuz were also used. On Saturday night she appeared much better; but when water was given her she dropped the giass, exclaiming, 'I can't drink; my heart would stop!" On Sunday evening she took her last drink, swallowing with difficulty a little milk punch. Then she grew much worse and her suffering from thirst was terrible. She was suspicious of everybody. The temperature of her body increased, and a frothy fluid came from her mouth. In a spasm on Sunday, her agony was increased by imagining that hair was growing from her tongue. She would not believe that she had hydrophobla and was conscious most of the time until within a few hours of her death,

THE VERPLANCK INQUIRY.—The medical board of inquiry into the mental condition of Major Abram G. Verplanck met again yesterday on Governor's Island and examined General Horatio Abram G. Verplanck met again yesterday on Governor's Island and examined General Horatio G. Gibson, of the 3d artillery, in command at Fort Wadsworth. General Gibson said he knew Major Verplanck in 1888, but that Verplanck came under his command in June, 1878. He was arrested on September 26, 1879. "I thought his mental condition was as sound as my own, if that is a fair criterion," said the witness. "I saw no signs of insanity during the eight weeks he was post adjutant before his arrest. He did not perform properly all the duties of his office. He was from time to time absent when he should have been present. He was put under arrest by Colonel Wilder in my absence. There was nothing in his trial which led me to suspect mental aberration so far as I could tell." Dr. Middleton, the surgeon of the 3d artillery, testified that one evening in November he saw Major Verplanck wandering along in New York with his head down and not noticing anybody. He saw him also on the day of his return to the post when he was first arrested and found his health and physical condition good. Since that time the witness had never seen anything to give him the idea the officer was laboring under mental aberration. Major Verplanck protested against an examination into his conduct as a soldier, and said that had such a course of examination been anticipated by him he would have had proper counsel present.—N.Y. gregation of the Woodland Avenue Presbyterian Church in Cleveland, Ohio, are exercised over the extraordinary mode of courtship adopted by their pastor, the Rev. S. L. Blake. He is somewhat advanced in years, and has been twice a widower, but has no children to interfere with No. 3. During the revival last fall Mr. Blake took an active part with Moody and Sankey, and his zeal and energy have resulted in over a hundred members being added to the fold. He was, of course, the object of the immediate and tender solicitude of the mothers in Israel who had marriageable daughters, and their jealous watchingless over his temporal interests has watchfulness over his temporal interests has given rise to the present agitation. He was very much impressed with the appearance of Miss Blood, a young lady just out of her teens, who has entered the normal schools to fit herseif to become a teacher. She attended Mr. Blake's church, and he became assiduous in his atten-tions. But it is his actions in the pulpit that have occasioned a scandal. His members claim that occasioned a scandal. His members claim that he has been observed during his sermons to press his hand upon his heart and direct his eyes with unmistakable meaning toward his fair parishoner. During the delivery of a lecture it is said that he directed his entire attention to the young lady, while she was observed throwing him little kisses with her finger-tips from the convenient, though ineffective, concealment of a fur muff. She has also visited him while he was sick at the rectory; and the deacons, after a consultation, have determined to give the pastor a vacation of two weeks, in order that he may visit St. Louis and receive fresh inspiration from Brother Moody. fresh inspiration from Brother Moody.

Mention was made in Monday evening's Gazette of an affray between two men-one white and the other colored—in Fauquier, in which the lat-ter was seriously hurt. The true facts of the case are as follows: Near Weaversville there is case are as follows: Near Weaversville there is an Englishman named James Clough, who has owned and worked a farm for some twenty years past. He is an old man, between 60 and 70 years. He has always borne an excellent character among his neighbors as an honest, industrious man. He has employed for the past year Willis Hart, a colored man, about 24 years old, and unharried. Last Sunday evening Willis Hart was riding a horse, accompanied by his brother, on foot; rode in the yard and up to the door, and called Clough out. It seems that he owed Hart $46 for hire, and he demanded his pay. Clough told him that he had no money, but would pay him the first chance. Hart responded that he would have it now. He was ordered off the premises by Clough, but refused; dismounted and drew his pistol, one of the cheap revolvers, carrying a ball about the size of a pea. As he put his hand in his pocket, Clough also drew, but Hart fired the first shot, the bullet striking Clough in the side; but not penetrating to the body. Clough then drew the trigger of his army Colt, and the ball struck Hart above the collar bone, and came out under his right arm. As Hart staggered back he fired his second shot and it struck Clough in the breast, but did not penetrate. Hearing the firing, Clough's son came running out with a shotgun, but Hart's brother grasped it, and, during the struggle, it went off. The parties now separated. On Tuesday morning Clough was taken to Warrenton and lodged in jail. He will be tried on the 4th of next month before Justice Redd, to see whether or not he shall be balled. Up to this morning Hart was still alive, but his recovery is very doubtful.—Alexandria Gazette, 28th. an Englishman named James Clough, who has

SEEKING DEMOCRATIC HARMONY.—A telegram from Albany to the N. Y. Times, Jan. 28, says: Col. Frederick Conkling is here, ostensibly as a representative merchant to argue the passage of the proposed Pilot bill, but it is said that his real mission is that of a harmonizer. He is said to have been in consultation with Amasa J. Parker, Erastus Corning and Judge Church with the view of securing the influence of these democrats in an attempt to unite the jarring factions of the democratic party. Mr. Corning is reported as having haughtly rejected the overtures made to him, because no assurance could be given that Tilden would not be a candidate. Mr. Parker's reception of the proposition of Col. Conkling has not been made known. Democratic members of the legislature consider Mr. Conkling's efforts as amounting to little more than "futile dalliance," and doomed to speedy failure, as one interpretation of the business is said to be an excuse for bringing Judge Church's name forward in connection with the democratic nomination for President.

FIVE PRISONERS SHOT IN CUBA .- On the 15th Inst. five prisoners, convicted by court martial of incendiarism and robbery, were shot at Santiago de Cuba, in accordance with the decree of Dec. 21, condemning persons convicted of those crimes, to death. Efforts were made to obtain a pardon for the culprits, but it was considered necessary to fulfil the sentence, as too many had already been pardoned for similar crimes, without any impression having been made upon the offenders.

Accidentally Hanged.—A woman named alice Thierney, aged 45, was found yesterday morning in Philadelphia hanging to a fence at the rear of a disreputable lodging house. The night before she said she was going to go out the back way, but was unable to open the gate. She then converted the frame of an iron bestead into a ladder and got over the fence. As she was descending on the other side her shawl and dress caught on a piece of a bar which projected above the fence. As she was unable to xtricate herself, she was strangled to death.

Burned Out in the Great Torio Fire.—The numerous friends of the Rev. Julius Soper, missionary of the M. E. church to Japan, formerly of this place, will regret to learn that in the extensive fire in Tokio, on the 26th of December last, his residence was entirely consumed, together with the church property of which he was pastor; both structures erected by the Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church a few years ago. Togibildings of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, one a school house, were also buried to the ground. These buildings comprised the entire property of the society in Tokio. Two other missionaries shared also in the same misfortune. The fire began about a mile from Mr. Soper's home, and a strong wind blowing in his direction the flames in a half hour had consumed the property. His loss, in his situation, is very severe—comprising his sermons, translations, some ready for the press; all his household furniture, and indeed almost his entire accumulations during his missionary life, having saved but a small quantity of clothing and his books. The church property destroyed was valued at $12,000, upon which there was an insurance of but $3,000. Eight thousand five hundred and sixty-three houses were destroyed in the city of Tokio by this conflagration.

A Petition For a New Pavement is being BURNED OUT IN THE GREAT TORIO FIRE.—The

A PETITION FOR A NEW PAVEMENT is being circulated by the residents of Gay street, who complain not only of the inconvenience and unsightliness of the old rotten wood pavement, but of sickness caused thereby. The street certainly needs reconstruction.

ANOTHER LYNCHING CASE IN VIRGINIA—Miscegenation the Cause.—A Richmond dispatch to the New York Herald gives the particulars of a case of lynching for miscegenation in Franklin county, Va. From this dispatch it seems that a colored man of bad character named Richard Woods, had deserted his wife and children and was living with a white woman named Nancy Williams, the mother of two illegitimate children. Last Monday night a party of men went to Nancy Williams' house, and after much trouble effected an entrance. After searching for some time Woods was found under the floor of the cabin, where he had concealed himself. Woods and the woman were then bound together and driven a considerable distance, the lynchers following with drawn pistols. When they arrived at a lonely point in the road the prisoners were halted and the negro Woods was ordered to strip. He partially undressed himself, and requested one of the mob to unbutton his shirt as he could not reach the button behind him, owing to one of his hands being tied to the woman. This request was regarded by the man to whom it was addressed as an insult, for he instantly knocked the negro garded by the man to whom it was addressed as an insult, for he instantly knocked the negro down, and he was set upon by several of the gang and severely beaten. The unfortunate negro, rendered desperate, at this critical juncture made a break from his custodians and ran, but fell from exhaustion and terror before he had gone very far. He was closely pursued by the mob, who, as soon as they came up, shot him several times and killed him. Returning to the woman, she was administered a severe whipping, after which she was ordered to go home—admonished that if she did not leave the county in three days she would be hanced. on the following day an inquest was held on the body of Woods, at which the above facts were substantially related, the witnesses being Nancy Williams and her children, and Eliza Woods, the wife, and her children of the murdered man.
